This proprietary combination of ingredient technologies works in multiple ways to illuminate your complexion by targeting the series of reactions in the critical synthesis phase. Essential to the skin brightening process, Tri-Phasic White® Essence should be used as part of your daily regimen.

FYI

- Freckles, melasma (pregnancy mask), age spots (also known as liver spots), and general hyperpigmentation are all caused by melanin—the pigment in your skin—which is produced by melanocytes.
- Melanin is produced through a series of reactions. During melanin synthesis, the amino acid tyrosine is converted into one of two types of melanin—dark or light. Dark melanin is associated with dark skin, while light melanin is more predominant in people with fair skin.
