CELEBRATING TWO DECADES OF SUCCESS IN SOUTHEAST ASIA

NU SKIN'S DISTRIBUTORS HAVE BECOME SUCCESSFUL ENTREPRENEURS RUNNING GLOBAL BUSINESSES

For the past 20 years, anti-aging company Nu Skin has been successfully selling its groundbreaking products to consumers across Southeast Asia. Over this period, the NYSE-listed company has opened in seven markets across the region, starting with Thailand (1997), the Philippines (1998), Singapore (2000), Malaysia and Brunei (2001), Indonesia (2005) and most recently, Vietnam (2013).

At the heart of the organization's success is its extensive network of distributors, who have spent considerable time, effort and commitment to promoting the Nu Skin brand, and in turn have become successful entrepreneurs.

These exceptional individuals have not only generated rewarding business for themselves and helped others to transform lives, but they also helped raise the industry's level of professionalism.

In the 20 years that Nu Skin has been in Southeast Asia, 100 distributors have successfully earned US$1 million (or more in commissions) during their time with Nu Skin. These elite distributors join what is known as Nu Skin's Million Dollar Circle (MDC).

"The Nu Skin distributor has evolved from being a sales person to an entrepreneur who runs a global business. These entrepreneurs run their Nu Skin business like CEOs of their own companies with business in any or all of our 54 international markets," said Melisa Tantoco Quijano, president of Nu Skin Asia Pacific.

The success of distributors has been dependent on the support and guidance given by Nu Skin and its experienced Southeast Asia management team, many of who have been with the company for more than 15 years.

"Nu Skin also offers a range of anti-aging products that are sought after by customers worldwide. Our ageLOC brand of products has generated over US$5 billion globally since 2008," said Vipada Tangpakorn, general manager Nu Skin Thailand.

Added Neo Chiou Yee, general manager Nu Skin Singapore. "Moreover with a large customer base throughout the world, Nu Skin has continuously innovated and offers relevant products that help our customers live younger, longer lives."

The success of Nu Skin and the evolving profile of its distributors have also helped change the perception of the direct selling industry.

"Direct selling used to be perceived as a part-time job, for housewives looking to earn extra income, but today it attracts professionals from different fields," said David Cheong, general manager Nu Skin Malaysia and Brunei.

Added Kany Soemantoro, president of Nu Skin Philippines and Indonesia: "We've seen this shift throughout the region and now welcome doctors, dentists, engineers, lawyers, accountants, academics who believe direct selling offers them financial flexibility, leveraged income and time freedom."

Beyond commercial success, Nu Skin and its distributors have also sought to give back to their communities through the Nu Skin Southeast Asia Children's Heart Fund (SEACHF). SEACHF has saved more than 7,800 underprivileged children with congenital heart disease since its inception in 2003.

The foundation for success is set for Nu Skin Southeast Asia as it continues its force for good to help more individuals realise their dreams and goals and help them to discover their best selves.
